TAFT MEN LOSE IN JERSEY

STATE CONVENTION WOULDN'T INDORSE HIS CANDIDACY.

of the "Big Four" Kean and Baird Are Anti-Taft and Briggs Hasn't Declared Himself-Fort Is for Taft-Half the District Delegates Are Against Him.

TRENTON, N. J., May 5 .- Followers of President Roosevelt and admirers of Secretary Taft made an unsuccessful attempt to stampede the Republican State convention to-day for their favorites. The effort came immediately after the presentation of a set of resolutions or platform and prior to the election of the four delegates at large to the national convention.

While the resolutions were pending Surrogate George E. Russell of Essex offered an amendment indorsing the candidacy of ex-Governor Franklin Murphy of Newark for the Vice-Presidency and urging the delegates to use their best efforts to accomplish his nomination. The amendment was adopted unanimously and with a considerable display af enthusiasm.

Ex-Senator J. Henry Bacheller of Newark followed with another amendment indorsing the candidacy of Taft for the Presidency. The convention was in an uproar in a moment and ex-United States Senator John F. Dryden, who was chairman and is himself an ardent supporter of Mr. Taft, was for a time unable to handle the situation.

When order had been restored James A. Blauvelt of Paterson offered an amendment to the amendment substituting Roosevelt for Taft. There was some applause from the Roosevelt adherents, but evidently it as far from being either a Taft or Rooseelt convention

Senator Frelinghuysen came to the rescue with a motion to table both amendments, which was made after an unsuccessful effort to have them referred to the committee on resolutions. Senator Dryden put the motion and declared it carried before he had given the opponents an apportunity to express their views. He explained that this was an inadvertence and again put the motion to table, which was carried by a decisive vote.

Ex-Governor Murphy withdrew his name as a candidate for delegate at large "in the interest of party harmony," as he said. This left as the five candidates for delegate at large Gov. Fort, United States Senators Friggs and Kean, David Baird of Camden, and ex-Governor John W. Griggs.

Mr. Griggs was nominated by Chancery tlerk Vivian M. Lewis of Passaic, who said that if elected Mr. Griggs would support secretary Taft in the national convention. An effort was made by some of the Essex delegates to obtain a similar declaration on the part of the other candidates, but without success.

Mr. Griggs, who was the only avowed laft delegate at large, received only 171 ites. His opponents were elected by the following votes: Fort, 630; Briggs, 605; hean, 597; Baird, 568.

Gov. Fort is known to favor the nomination of Mr. Taft. Senator Kean and David Baird are both against Taft, and their choice, it is said, would be Senator Knox. Senator Briggs is also rated as an anti-Taft man, although he has made no declaration as to his first choice.

Of the twenty district delegates, most et whom were chosen at Congressional district conventions held this morning, is believed that considerably less than half favor Taft as first choice, while a number of the others are opposed to his candidacy altogether.

The convention took a recess of two hours to permit the committee on credenrials to investigate the charges of alleged fraudulent voting at the primaries in Hudson county. The New Idea men submitted to the committee evidence tending to show that the regular organization had been guilty of stuffing ballot boxes and resorting other fraudulent methods. The committee reported to the convention that it did not find the allegation to have been proved by the evidence and recommended the seating of the delegates to whom credentials had been issued.

When the report was presented an unsuccessful effort was made to substitute for it a minority report. The latter, however, was tabled and attempts to amend the majority report were declared out of order. This ended the fight.

The alternate delegates at large selected were Gen. C. Edward Murray of Mercer, Daniel S. Voorhees of Morris, Lewis S. Thompson of Monmouth and Capt. Walter E. Edge of Atlantic.

The Republican State convention unanimously adopted a resolution introduced by United States Senator Frank C. Briggs expressing sympathy with Grover Cleveand because of his ill health and a wish that he may soon be restored to health.

CONNECTICUT FAVORS TAFT.

tenvention's Sentiment All That Way

-Bulkeley and Brandage Opposed. HARTFORD, May 5 .- Delegates to the tational convention at Chicago will be chosen by the Republican State convention to-morrow. The convention held a preliminary session in the Auditorium this evening, when Senator F. S. Luther, president of Trinity College, made a speech as temporary chairman.

Committees were named and the convenhon then adjourned until to-morrow morning.

it is probable that the selections will e made without a clash, unless Senators Bulkeley and Brandage insist upon going Chicago. There is considerable opposition to them, because they are credited with being hostile to Roosevelt and Taft and because it has been the custom for years for Senators to refrain from attending enventions as delegates.

The sentiment of the convention is overwhelmingly for Taft.

TO RESTORE THE CITY HALL. FAIL TO AGREE ON CURRENCY

Mrs. Sage Said to Contemplate a Further Gift to the City.

Mrs. Russell Sage, accompanied by Robert W. de Forest, visited the City Hall yesterday and called on Acting Mayor McGowan. Mrs. Sage inspected many rooms and was intensely interested in the building as far as she saw it. The Governor's Room, which she has had restored to its original condition, especially interested her. This room Mrs. Sage regards as one of the most important historical rooms in the city, and she gave $25,000 in 1907 to have it restored as to its decorations and furniture. The plans for this work were approved by the Municipal Art Commission, of which Robert

W. de Forest is the president. Mrs. Sage's visit yesterday was paid with the idea of making the work in the City Hall stilf more extensive. She thinks that the whole building should be restored as far as possible according to the original plans and it is understood has offered to defray the cost. The hall is regarded as the best representation in the city of the architecture of the Colonial period. It has been altered very much since it was first built, but with all its alterations it is still fine, and Mrs. Sage is described as anxious that it should be made a permanent exhibition of the architecture of the period it represents.

McKim, Mead & White made the plans for the work done on the Governors' room and they have in their possession the plans of the building as it originally stood, which they secured from the Historical Society. These plans are supposed to give sufficient detail for the restoration of the whole building and if Mrs. Sage's offer is accepted the plans will be made under the supervision of the Municipal Art Commission.

The original architect of the City Hall was John McComb, who was assisted by the French architect Lamaire. The building was finished in 1803. The decorations have been changed several times since then, but it is understood that most of the old furniture is still in the building.

It is said that the work of restoration would cost at least $250,000.

Johnson-Bryan Crowd and Supporters of

A REAL FIGHT IN OHIO.

Harmon Contesting State Convention. COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 5 .- The Garber-Finley faction of the Ohio Democrats seems to be in control of the Democratic State convention, the first session of which was held to-night. Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland, however, disputes the claim and still declares he will nominate Atlee Pomerene of Canton for Governor.

Johnson also claims to control the new State central committee, although the view of impartial observers is that the committee stands 14 to 7 against him.

The Cleveland Mayor won out in the committee on rules and order of business, which probably means that the convention tomorrow will indorse James E. Campbell for Senator. In the other committee meetings to-night Johnson was worsted. In a card published to-day Johnson made a bitter attack on Judson Harmon, who is considered the most likely nominee for Governor. He charges that his nomination if achieved would be dictated by the liquor interests. He said:

"Harmon's nomination is a trap set by Bryan's enemies to catch Bryan's friends. It is a foolish attempt on the part of the liquor interests of Ohio to sidetrack all great issues and plaster the whiskey label all over the Democratic party.

"The Democracy of Ohio can't go before the people with a candidate for Governor who is an attorney for the brewing interests and who is known as the legal representative and railroad receiver in Ohio of the Morgan interests in New York.

There are warm contests on for the various nominations to be made to-morrow. Aside from the contests between the Finley and Johnson factions, there is an independent crowd making much headway. They raise the cry that both of the old factions should be dispossessed.

IRVING W. CHILD MISSING. Papers in His Young Wife's Divorce Suit Can't Be Served.

The attorney for Mrs. Gertrude E. Child has been unable to serve the papers on Irving W. Child in the suit for divorce which she' filed in the County Clerk's office in Brooklyn three months ago. Mr. Child, who is a son of the late W. H. H.

Child, was secretly married to Miss Gertrude E. Westfall by a hotel chaplain in Manhattan on March 26, 1906, and the couple went to live at 1902 Ditmas avenue, Flatbush, near the home of the bride's father, Arthur S. Westfall, at 185 Stratford road. Six months ago there was a separation and Mrs. Child with her baby went to live with her father. Soon after the separation the Ditmas avenue house was closed and young Mr. Child disappeared from Brooklyn. His wife has been ignorant of his whereabouts since they parted and even his own lawyer professes to have no knowledge of his present whereabouts. He may have gone to Europe, it is said. There is a petition pending before the Supreme Court for an order to serve the summons and complaint in the divorce proceedings by publication.

Mr. Child has already received nearly half a million dollars as part of his share in his father's estate, and within three years he is to get another big slice of the estate. Several "unknown women" are named as corespondents in the divorce suit. As Mrs. Child is not yet quite 21 years old her father was appointed guardian to look after her interests in the suit for divorce.

PEKIN LOOTER TO BE TRIED. German Officer Who Took Emperor's Marriage Certificate Must Answer.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, May 5 .- The Ministry of Foreign Affairs at the instance of the Chinese Legation has instituted the prosecution of a German military official who was a member of the expedition against Pekin in 1900 for purloining the Chinese Emperor's marriage certificate, details of which were cabled to THE SUN some time ago.

The officer took the document as a souvenir not knowing what it was, and after other looting officers of the Western Powers had rejected it, supposing it to be worthless. It is stated that the document passed through the hands of Gen. Count von Waldersee and other high officers, none of whom objected to its removal.

Now, after its restoration to China, its late possessor has learned with astonishment that the appropriation of such a document constitutes, in the Chinese view, a sacrilege the depth of which the Occidental mind is incapable of conceiving.

CONFERENCE OF REPUBLICANS IN HOUSE WITHOUT RESULT.

They Will Tackle the Problem Again Tonight-Cannon Pleads for the Vreeland Bill-Members of the Conference Agree Not to Be Bound as in a Caucus.

WASHINGTON, May 5.-The Republican members of the House of Representatives held an abortive conference to-night on the subject of financial legislation.

The object of the conference was to determine upon some measure providing for the issue of emergency currency and to agree to put it through the House before adjournment. But after three hours of earnest and at times excited debate the conferees failed to reach an agreement. They will meet again to-morrow night and may have further conferences.

No other bill than that introduced by Representative Vreeland of New York was considered to-night. This measure makes commercial paper the basis for the issue of circulating notes and provides for the organization of clearing house associations to put the notes in circulation. The discussion was directed more particularly, however, to a resolution presented to the conference by Representative Bennet of New York, which in substance recognized the commercial paper feature of the Vreeland bill and provided that the bill should be revised by a special committee of the conference. Mr. Bennet's resolution was based upon suggestions from President Gilbert of the New York Clearing House Association. Its text follows:

"Resolved, That the conference approves the underlying principles of the Vreeland bill, nariely, a recognition of commercial paper through clearing house associations, as a safe and logical asset for emergency currency, and also approves the proposition for a currency commission, and be it further

"Resolved, That the chair appoint a committee of five members to perfect the bill, such committee to report the perfected bill to the conference at an adjourned meeting to be held within five days." Those who spoke in support of the Vreeland bill were Speaker Cannon, Representatives Burton of Ohio, Weeks of Massachusetts, Keifer of Ohio and Madden of Illinois. Those who opposed it were Representatives Fowler of New Jersey, Hill of Connecticut, Waldo of New York, Hayes of California and Campbell of Kansas. Speaker Cannon in an impassioned address urged the Republican membership of the House to adopt the Vreeland bill as the best possible compromise for emergency circulation that could possibly be reached. At the outset of the conference a resolution offered by Representative Prince of Illinois providing that those in attendance should not be bound by any action that might be taken to-night was adopted. This will govern at the meeting to-morrow night or at any subsequent meeting that may be held.

LET THE DOCTOR PROCEED

And After Child's Life Was Saved Arrested Chauffeur for Speeding.

Dr. Max Wolper of 1911 Madison avenue got a message from a family by the name of Bleiberg of 305 East Thirty-third street last night that a daughter, Mazie, 4 years old, who is ill with throat trouble, had grown worse and seemed to be choking to death. Dr. Wolper stopped for Dr. E. K. Brown at 1885 Madison avenue and then struck out for Fifth avenue as fast as his automobile could turn a wheel. Between Forty-fourth and Forty-third streets Bicycle Policeman Fletcher shouted that the speed law was being violated.

When Dr. Wolper explained the urgency of the case the policeman told the chauffeur to go ahead full speed and he would follow, saying that if there was a life at stake he did not want to stand in the road. The machine then speeded down the avenue and over to the Bleiberg home. There the doctor jumped out and the policeman arrested the chauffeur, Morris Thomp-

HENRY J. LORD GETS DIVORCE. Wife Accused of Intimacy With Negro

Coachman Withdraws Defence. BRIDGEPORT, Conn., May 5 .- Trial of the divorce suit of Henry J. Lord, a wealthy poultry breeder of Trumbull, Conn., and Kansas City, against his wife, Augustine Emanuel Lord, in which their negro coachman, Harry Cameron, was named as corespondent, came to an abrupt end in the Superior Court this afternoon when Mrs. Lord abandoned her defence in the case and Judge Robintson granted to the petitioner a decree of absolute divorce and custody of the six-year-old daughter.

Cameron had been hovering around the court house. As soon as the action of Mrs. Lord was made known to him he took the train for New York, fearing violence at the hands of Lord's friends, who went in search

In the proceedings this morning Jerome Vickers, 11 years old, who lives near the Lord residence in Trumbull, testified to having seen Mrs. Lord kiss the negro coach-

Bertha Seawall, a maid at the Lord residence, told many stories of Mrs. Lord's fondness for the coachman. Mrs. Lord, stockings and underwear and sewed letters | on his handkerchiefs. She also made a silk shirt for him.

Mrs. Lord confided to the maid, she said, that Cameron had good taste in dress. When she didn't know what to wear in the morning she asked him. Once she changed a handbag because Cameron did not like it The maid declared she had seen Mrs. Lord's photograph in a gold frame on Cameron's bureau. The defendant also made a necktie rack for Cameron, the maid said, and wrote on it "From the girl who loves you."

a hot day last year Mrs. Lord suggested to the maid, she said, that it was too hot for Harry to sleep in the attic. "I'm going to see if he can't sleep on the couch in my room," Mrs. Lord declared. "I'm not afraid of Harry."

VIRTUAL LIBERAL DEFEAT.

Bad Slump in Majority in Wolverhampton -Trying Ordeal for Churchill.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON. May 5.-There was another big turnover of votes to-day in the by-election at Wolverhampton to fill the vacancy in the House of Commons caused by the elevation of Sir Henry Fowler, Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster, to the peerage. The Liberal candidate barely managed to retain the seat by a majority of 8 votes in a total vote of 9,020. In the last election Sir Henry Fowler had a plurality of 2,865.

The result is expected to have consider able influence upon the polling on May 9 at Dundee, where Mr. Churchill is finding a stiffer proposition than the Liberal majority of 5,411 in 1906 suggested as likely. His opponents are growing confident of a huge reduction in this majority. Some of the more sanguine are even looking to victory.

Circumstances have obliged Mr. Churchill to undergo an ordeal which may have material importance on his electoral success. He started for London to-night to conduct further negotiations to settle the shipvard dispute. His predecessor in the presidency of the Board of Trade, Mr. Lloyd-George, developed remarkable power for composing such differences. Mr. Churchill has yet to show his ability as a peacemaker in labor troubles.

He will return on Thursday to Dundee, where there are 1,400 workers affected by of carriage robes, obtained yesterday from

DICKERED WITH HER BURGLAR. Woman Gets Her Money Back and Keeps

Prisoner to Boot. Mrs. Annie Steinlieb, a young whose home is on the top floor of the tenement at 237 East 110th street, returned home at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and found her dining room door open and three men rummaging around inside. Two of them got away, but the third Mrs.

Steinlieb grabbed. The burglar and the woman tussled about the floor, Mrs. Steinlieb shouting for help and the burglar punching and trying to free himself. Then Mrs. Steinlieb was reenforced by other women in the building, who came with rolling pins, brooms, stove lifters and other implements of household warfare and defence.

The burglar offered Mrs. Steinlieb, if she would let him go, her pocketbook containing $25 rent money, which he had just taken from a sideboard drawer. She assented. He put the money in the pocket of her jacket, but she still held on, and presently Policeman Haggerty of the East 104th street station came and took the man away with him.

The prisoner said he was William Meyer, 18 years old, no home. He was locked up on a charge of burglary.

> Officials and Diplomats in Washington Surprised—The Treaty is Similar to Those Already Negotiated With Other Nations as a Result of the Hague Conference.

WASHINGTON, May. 5-In the face of the hints of possible international conflict which came from Administration Senators in the debate over the battleship provision of the naval bill Secretary Root and Baron Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese Ambassador to the United States, signed to-day a general arbitration treaty between the United States and Japan.

The treaty provides for the settlement by arbitration of all disputes of a legal nature or in regard to the construction of existing treaties between the two nations, but questions of vital interest, the independence or the honor of the two contracting states and questions that concern the interests of a third state are not included. The treaty will be in force for five years.

The signing of the treaty was a complete surprise to officials and diplomats in Washington, as only a few persons were aware that negotiations were in progress. The completion of the treaty marks the first definite result of the resumption of treaty negotiations which were discontinued in the winter of 1906 on account of the assaults on Japanese subjects in San Francisco.

At that time a treaty for the exclusion of Japanese coolie laborers from the United States was under way, but the negotiations were abandoned by Japan on account of the great spread of anti-American agitation in that country due to the San Francisco outbreaks. The treaty signed to-day is the first arbitration treaty negotiated between Japan and the United States.

Baron Takahira presented his credentials on February 20. Shortly thereafter work upon the present treaty was begun upon the suggestion of Secretary Root, who had already negotiated similar treaties with Great Britain, France, Norway, Spain, Portugal and Switzerland. The Japanese Government assented readily to Secretary Root's suggestion.

The treaty is in accordance with Article 19 of the first Hague peace conferthe witness said, washed the coachman's ence, which recommended that the Powers signatory to the Hague conference conclude agreements with a view to the settlement by arbitration of all disputes which they consider possible to arbitrate.

The treaty is practically similar to those already negotiated with several foreign Powers and in a few days it will be sent to the Senate for confirmation. No opposition to its ratification is expected. The exchange of ratifications is to take place in Washington. The five years period will date from the exchange.

CHILD CHRISTENS BIG BALLOON. A. Holland Forbes's Daughter Breaks Champagne Bottle on Conqueror's Anchor.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., May 5 .- Miss Natalie A. Forbes, the twelve-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Holland Forbes of 67 East Fifty-fifth street, New York, smashed a bottle of champagne over the anchor of Mr. Forbes's big balloon, the Conqueror, in North Adams this morning at 10:50 o'clock, and the balloon, carrying Mr. Forbes, as pilot; Leo Stevens, its builder, William F. Whitehouse and Henry Whitehouse of New York, ascended into the blue

Berkshire skies for its first flight. Fully 6,000 people gathered about the Aero Park in North Adams to witness the christening of the largest balloon ever built in this country and one that is to be a competitor for the international cup, which was wrested from Lieut. Lahm last October by German balloonists. Mr. and Mrs. Forbes and their party arrived in North Adams last night. At a ladies' night at the Berkshire Club, at Adams were guests Col F. S. Richardson of the Aero Club of North Adams presented to Mr. Forbes a handsome silver loving cup in appreciation of his interest in the North

Adams Club, of which he is a charter mem The Conqueror has a capacity of 80,000 cubic feet of gas. To-day it carried 2,425 pounds on its initial flight, of which 1,800 pounds was sand ballast. The christening was a pretty ceremony Little Miss Forbes, in a gown of white with the insignia of the Aero Club of America on her arm, broke the ribbon bedecked bottle of champagne and said in girlish tones, "The Conqueror I christen thee." The circumstances precluded the supposition that it was one of the known satellites or a minor planet. Repeated investigation by Messrs. Melotte and Crommelin led to the conclusion that it was a new satellite, with a retrograde orbital motion.

950,000 TREES FROM GERMANY To Be Planted in the Adirondack Reserve This Year and the Next. ALBANY, May 5.-Many men will get employment by the reforesting of the Adirondack preserve. The State has purchased from Germany 950,000 seedling trees. They include 450,000 2 and 500,000 3 years old. The 2-year-old seedling trees have been put in a new nursery to remain one year, when they will be planted. The 500,000 3-year-olds, with 600,-000 that the State already had in its nurseries, are now being planted in the forests, making a total this year of 1,100,000 seedling trees to be planted, twice as many as have been planted before in this State in any one

At present there are about forty men . employed in the nursery and at least 100 in the planting fields in the forests, With so much additional planting to be done this force will have to be increased materially. The 2-year-old seedlings cost 75 cents a thousand and the 3-year-olds

11 KILLED IN HOUSE OF MURDER

BODIES OF FIVE OF WOMAN'S VICTIMS FOUND IN YARD.

Lured Men With Money to Her by Matrimonial Advertisements-Only One Idenuned-He Had $3,000 When He Went to Visit Widow and Disappeared.

LAPORTE, Ind., May 5.-That wholesale murder had been done at the home of Mrs. Belle Gunness, near this city, was disclosed to-day by the search of Sheriff Butler of this county for the body of Andrew Heldgren of Aberdeen, S. Dak., who came here last January to visit Mrs. Gunness.

One week ago this morning the home of Mrs. Gunness was destroyed by fire. The body of Mrs. Gunness and her three children were taken from the débris.

Ray Lamphere, who had been a hired and, was arrested and is now in jail awaiting trial charged with the murder of the family.

Mrs. Gunness had been twice married. Her first husband was believed to have died as the result of poison administered by her. Her second husband was struck on the head with a meat cleaver and was instantly killed. Mrs. Gunness said that her second husband's death was accidents and there being no evidence to substantiate the foul play theory a verdict of accidental death was rendered at the Coroner's inquest.

The search for Heldgren was undertaken at the instance of John Heldgren, a brother, who came here from Aberdeen as soon as he heard of the destruction of the Gunnes home and the burning of Mrs. Gunnes and her three children.

At a depth of four feet under ground, near where the house stood, the body of Andrew Heldgren was found. In another place the body of a woman was dug up. which is thought to be that of Jennie Olson Gunnes, a sixteen-year-old girl whom Mrs. Gunnes had reared and who disappeared in September, 1906, when it was said she had gone to Los Angeles, Cal., to attend school.

Andrew Heldgren became acquainted with Mrs. Gunness through a matrimonial agency. At that time Heldgren spent almost a month visiting Mrs. Gunness and others in this city, after which he was supposed to have started on a trip to Norway and Sweden. He had not been heard of since. At that time Mrs. Gunness was trying to get a logn from a local bank. When Heldgren learned of this he offered to lend her the money. Early in January she borrowed $1,500 from him. Just before that Heldgren had drawn $3,000 from an Aberdeen bank through a local bank.

Heldgren's body was found dismembered. The arms, legs, trunk and head had been put into different sacks and buried. Sheriff Butler and Prosecutor Smith are confident that Lamphere, who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Gunness and her children, knows of the Heldgren nurder. He was working for Mrs. Gunness at the time Andrew Heldgren was staying there. One day he appeared in a local barber shop wearing Heldgren's coat, and it is thought that he worked in conjunction with Mrs. Gunness in making away with the man. The body of Heldgren was identified by a scar on the skull and also by the teeth. The finding of the bodies of Heldgren and Miss Olson added to the zeal of the searchers and within an hour twenty men were digging in the yard. Wherever the earth appeared soft the diggers went at their work with enthusiasm and in a little while three bodies were added to the two that were found earlier in the day. One was that of a woman and the other two were the partly decomposed bodies of men. All are unrecognizable. That all of the five persons were murdered there can be no doubt, for each of the bodies except Heldgren's was stripped of all clothing and buried less than four feet under ground. The manner of the burials shows that they were done hastily. It is believed that Mrs. Gunness was the murderess in each instance and that the male victims were men who had come to see her in answer to matrimonial advertisements. This theory of the several crimes, however, is based upon the known fact that Heldgren came to Laporte on a matrimonial mission and that he loaned Mrs. Gunness money and had a large sum on his person in addition to what he gave her. Two of the bodies were found buried under a piece of a mattress or bedtick, and above this was found the body of Miss Olson. It is now believed that the girl was murdered through fear that she would reveal the crimes of which Mrs. Gunness is supposed to be guilty and that the murder was committed at about the time that the two men were killed and buried in the yard. The fact that they were buried beneath her and that the bodies or skeletons show practically the same stage of decay fixes the murders some time in January 1906, at which time the Olson girl was missed and Mrs. Gunness reported that she had gone to Los Angeles to attend school. Mrs. Gunness's home has been for five years a house of mystery. She did not tell where she came from and when her second husband died shortly after their arrival the circumstances were such as to direct suspicion to her. She said that a meat cleaver had fallen from a shelf in the kitchen and killed him, and a deep gash in his head corroborated the story so far as the cleaver was concerned. Then she began to advertise for a husband and from time to time men were seen around her house, but their coming and going attracted little attention. During nearly all the five years of her residence here Ray Lamphere was a hired hand on her farm and is believed by the authorities to have knowledge of the crimes if he did not actually participate in them. He said that Heldgren left for Chicago on an early train on the morning of February 5, but it is known that he did not go to that city. Probably it was on that date that he was murdered and his dismembered body placed in the gunnysacks and buried. His is really the only body that has been positively identified, and the officers are at a loss to account for the other bodies, especially that of the woman other than

Jennie Olson. After the Gunness home fire the charred remains of the four victims were found, excepting the head of Mrs. Gunness. It is thought that she was murdered before the house was set on tre. Lamphere is known to have been in love with her and to have
